

Retired Jerseys

Duke has set aside a day to recognize one of its own on 13 occasions. Thirteen banners hang from the rafters of Cameron Indoor Stadium, honoring each of those events. It's officially known as Retirement Day.

There is no higher honor than having your basketball number and jersey retired, and 13 times Duke University has done just that. The names reverberate in prestige — Shane Battier, Johnny Dawkins, Danny Ferry, Mike Gminski, Dick Groat, Art Heyman, Grant Hill, Bobby Hurley, Christian Laettner, Jeff Mullins, J.J. Redick, Jason Williams and Shelden Williams.

Though there is no 'official' criteria to have a jersey retired at Duke, a player must achieve at a national level — earn National Player of the Year or National Defensive Player of the Year honors, set an NCAA record, win a gold medal representing his country in the Olympics or earn All-America recognition. What distinguishes Duke's retired jersey players from many other schools is the main criteria. No jersey will be retired at Duke unless the player has earned his degree.

Groat was the first Blue Devil to be so honored when his No. 10 was officially retired on May 1, 1952. It would not be until February 20, 1980, that the next jersey would be retired at Duke — Gminski's No. 43. In the early 1990s, Heyman's No. 25 and Mullins' No. 44 were retired nearly three decades after their Duke playing days.

After Mike Krzyzewski's arrival in 1980 and Duke's dominant run that began in the middle of that decade, nine players had their jerseys retired, starting with Dawkins in 1986 and ending with J.J. Redick and Shelden Williams in 2007.

Shane Battier began his career at Duke with a solid freshman season as an ACC All-Freshman Team selection, averaging 7.6 points and 6.4 rebounds per game in 1997-98. By his sophomore year, Battier was proving to be an outstanding defensive player, earning his first of an eventual three NABC National Defensive Player of the Year awards. Battier helped lead the 1999 Blue Devils to the NCAA Championship game and a 37-2 record, making them the number one team in the final AP poll. The honors kept mounting in Battier's junior year. In addition to the NABC Co-Defensive Player of the Year award, he earned second team All-America, first team All-ACC, first team All-ACC Tournament and first team Academic All-America honors. He led Duke in scoring (17.4 ppg), blocked shots (70) and three-point percentage (.444). Battier's outstanding career at Duke was capped with a national championship in 2001 along with the ACC regular season title and the ACC Tournament title. As a senior in 2000-01, Battier averaged 19.9 points, 7.3 rebounds, 2.3 blocks, 2.1 steals and 1.8 assists. He was named the 2001 consensus National Player of the Year, NABC National Defensive Player of the Year, first team All-America, Verizon Academic All-America, Final Four Most Outstanding Player, ACC Co-Player of the Year, ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player, first team All-ACC and ACC All-Defensive Team. Battier was the sixth pick in the 2001 NBA Draft and was named to the 2002 NBA All-Rookie Team.

Johnny Dawkins was part of the freshman class that would be the beginning of modern Duke basketball. Dawkins was a Freshman All-America and second team All-ACC selection in 1983, scoring in double figures in 27 of 28 games. As a sophomore, Dawkins averaged 19.4 points per game and was selected to the second team All-ACC and first team All-ACC Tournament. Dawkins earned first team All-America and first team All-ACC honors as a junior, averaging 18.8 points per game and was the team MVP for the third year in a row. As a senior in 1985-86, Dawkins led the team to a 37-3 record and the NCAA Championship game as well as the Big Apple NIT title, ACC regular season title, and ACC Tournament title. He was named the National Player of the Year, East Regional MVP, All-Final Four, first team All-America, first team All-ACC and ACC Tournament MVP. He led Duke in scoring for four consecutive years. Duke's second all-time leading scorer, Dawkins amassed 2,556 points in his career as a Blue Devil. He is Duke's all-time leader in field goals made and field goals attempted. He was the 10th pick overall in the 1986 NBA Draft and played in the NBA from 1986-95. He was on the Duke coaching staff for 11 years and is currently the head coach at Stanford University.

As a freshman in 1985-86, Danny Ferry was an integral part of the record-setting Blue Devil team that was 37-3 and made it to the National Championship game as well as winning the ACC Championship. By Ferry's sophomore season, he led Duke in scoring, rebounds and assists, earning him second team All-ACC honors. As a junior, Ferry had a 19.1 points per game scoring average and led the team in scoring, rebounding, minutes, free throw percentage and blocked shots. His junior season he was first team All-America, a National Player of the Year finalist, ACC Player of the Year, winner of the McKeelin Award for the ACC's top athlete, MVP of the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional and was first team All-ACC. In Ferry's senior year, he helped his team advance to the Final Four and led the ACC with a 22.6 scoring average. Among the numerous accolades he earned his senior year were: National Player of the Year, first team All-America, ACC Player of the Year, winner of the McKeelin Award, MVP of the East Regional and USA Today Collegiate Achiever of the Year. He was the first player in ACC history to compile 2,000 points, 1,000 rebounds and 500 assists. Ferry was the number two pick in the 1989 NBA Draft and he played in the NBA from 1990-2003, winning the NBA championship in 2003 with the San Antonio Spurs.

Redick took his game to new heights in 2004-05, averaging an ACC-best 21.8 points while earning unanimous first team All-America and ACC Player of the Year accolades. Redick also claimed the 2005 Rupp Award after reaching double-figures in scoring 31 times, including 21 games with 20 or more points. As a senior, Redick recorded the most prolific scoring season in school history and became the second Duke player and only the eighth overall in college basketball history to repeat as National Player of the Year. He also repeated as a first team All-America (unanimous selection) and as the ACC Player of the Year. The Roanoke, Va., native led the ACC and finished second in the NCAA in scoring at 26.8 points per game, while shooting 47.0 percent (302-of-643) from the field and 42.1 percent (139-of-330) from three-point range. He scored in double-figures in all 36 games, including 28 games with 20+ points, 14 games with 30+ points and three 40+ point games. Redick also claimed the James E. Sullivan Award as the nation's top amateur athlete following his senior campaign.

Jason Williams 22

6-2 • 195 • Plainfield, N.J. • Sociology Major

Jason Williams entered Duke as a McDonald's All-America and the winner of the Morgan Wootten Award, given to the top prep player in the nation. Williams was a starter from his very first game and ended his first year as The Sporting News National Freshman of the Year in 2000. In his freshman year, Williams averaged 14.5 points, 4.2 rebounds, 6.5 assists and 2.4 steals per game. He also collected ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player, Basketball Times first team Freshman All-America and Associated Press ACC All-Freshman team honors. As a sophomore in 2000-01, Williams helped lead the Blue Devils to their third national championship and had Duke's second highest season points total with 841. Williams was named the National Player of the Year by the NABC and Point Guard of the Year by ESPN. He was an All-Final Four team, unanimous first team All-ACC, first team ACC All-Tournament and first team All-America selection as well as a finalist for both the Wooden and Naismith Awards. The accolades continued to mount for Williams in his third and final season as a Blue Devil. Williams received the Naismith and Wooden Awards for National Player of the Year and was also named Player of the Year by AP, Basketball Times, NABC, The Sporting News, USBWA, CBS Sportline, ESPN the Magazine, ESPN.com and collegeinsider.com. Williams was selected to the first team All-ACC and the first team All-ACC Tournament and ended his collegiate career with 2,079 points, 644 assists, 313 three-point field goals and 235 steals. Williams was a starter in all 108 games from 2000-2002 and was the second overall pick in the 2002 NBA Draft.

Sheldon Williams 23

6-9 • 250 • Forest Park, Okla. • Sociology Major

Sheldon Williams arrived at Duke with the nickname 'The Landlord' and lived up to the moniker by controlling the lane for four seasons as a Blue Devil. As a freshman, Williams averaged 8.2 points, 5.9 rebounds and 1.6 blocks per game, while earning ACC All-Freshman honorable mention honors. In 2003-04, Williams' number grew to 12.6 points, 8.5 rebounds and 3.0 blocks as he helped guide Duke to the Final Four. He also received several All-America and second team All-ACC accolades as a sophomore. As a junior, Williams became the first player on a Mike Krzyzewski team to average a double-double (15.5 points & 11.2 rebounds). He also registered a Duke record 122 blocks, while earning NABC National Defensive Player of the Year honors. Williams claimed NABC National DPOY honors for the second straight year and set Duke records for career blocked shots and rebounds as a senior. Williams, a consensus first team All-America in 2006, finished third in the league in scoring at 18.8 points per game and became the 11th player in ACC history (first Blue Devil) to lead the conference in rebounding (10.7) in back-to-back years. Williams blocked four shots on Jan. 18, 2006 against N.C. State to become Duke's all-time blocked shots leader (moving past Mike Gminski). The Forest Park, Okla., native grabbed 14 rebounds against George Washington on March 18, 2006 to pass Gminski as the leading rebounder in Duke history. Williams also became just the third Blue Devil to register a triple-double on Jan. 11, 2006 against Maryland when he finished with 19 points, 11 rebounds and 10 blocks against the Terrapins. Williams closed his career at Duke first in rebounding (1,262 - sixth in ACC history) and blocked shots (422 - fifth in ACC history), fifth in field goal percentage (.572) and 13th in points (1,928). He also became the first player in NCAA history to register 1,750 points, 1,250 rebounds, 400 blocks and 150 steals in a career.

Duke In The NBA

A total of 62 former Duke players have appeared on a NBA roster. In 2014, Jabari Parker and Rodney Hood became the 48th and 49th draft selections under Mike Krzyzewski. Duke has had 18 players selected in the NBA Draft Lottery, tied for the most in the nation since the system was put into place in 1985. In 1999, Duke became the first program in the history of the NBA Draft to have four players from the same school selected in the first round. Three of the four — Elton Brand (Chicago), Trajan Langdon (Cleveland) and Corey Maggette (Seattle) — were lottery picks. In 2002, Jason Williams (2nd overall) and Mike Dunleavy (3rd) became the first college teammates in the history of the NBA Draft to be the first two collegians selected. Overall, 28 Duke players have been selected in the first round of the NBA Draft in the Coach K era.

International Basketball

The Duke Blue Devils have a long history of success in international basketball competition dating back to 1964 when Jeff Mullins became the first Blue Devil to play for and win a gold medal with the U.S. Olympic basketball team. Since that initial appearance, Duke players and coaches have competed on the international stage nearly 150 times, winning 74 medals along the way. Blue Devil players and coaches have accounted for 54 gold medals in international competition through the years, including five from Mike Krzyzewski as a national team head coach.

Mullins, Tate Armstrong (1976), Christian Laettner (1992), Grant Hill (1996) and Carlos Boozer (2008) each have Olympic gold medals, while Krzyzewski was an assistant coach on the 1992 gold medal team and captained the 2008 and 2012 championship squads. Former Blue Devil standout and assistant coach Johnny Dawkins was an alternate on the 1986 Olympic team and was also a part of the staff for 2008 Olympic team.

Krzyzewski has been a part of 14 medal-winning USA Basketball teams beginning with a gold medal as an assistant coach at the 1979 Pan American Games. He has been a part of 10 gold medal-winning teams as well as two silver medalist and two bronze medalist programs over the past 33 years. After becoming the head coach of the Men's Senior National Team in 2005, Krzyzewski has led the program to a 75-1 record in international competitions, including an active streak of 63 consecutive wins. Coach K returned to the helm of the program on May 23, 2013 for his third four-year stint that will conclude with the 2016 Rio Olympics.

Duke's consistent presence on the international scene is evident by the program having at least one current or former Blue Devil compete on a USA Basketball team every year since 1988. "Duke players have been pretty well schooled fundamentally," said USA Basketball chairman Jerry Colangelo. "They have been well coached and really understand what it takes to be successful and what it necessitates in the way of work so it is really good bloodlines."

USA Men's Senior National Team - 2006-present

With the USA Men's Senior National Team in a tailspin following a sixth-place finish at the 2002 World Championships and bronze medal showing at the 2004 Greece Olympics, USA Basketball chairman Jerry Colangelo tabbed Mike Krzyzewski to lead the resurrection of the program on Oct. 26, 2005. Over the next six international events, spanning eight years, Coach K and Team USA amassed an extraordinary 75-1 record en route to winning gold medals at the 2007 FIBA Americas Championship, 2008 Beijing Olympics, 2010 FIBA World Championship, 2012 London Olympics and the 2014 FIBA World Cup as well as a bronze medal at the 2006 FIBA World Championship.

Krzyzewski and Team USA suffered their only loss together in the 2006 FIBA World Championship in the semifinals against Greece. The program has responded by winning the next 63 games to re-establish the U.S. as the preeminent basketball power in the world.

Coach K helped USA Basketball regain its position in international basketball during his first stint as the national team coach (2005-08). By instilling the same team-first principles he utilizes as the foundation for success at Duke, he helped build a program that achieved its ultimate goal by claiming the 2008 Olympic gold medal with a 118-107 win over Spain. In the process, Team USA also restored a tarnished image by winning over fans and fellow athletes with its presence off the court in Beijing. While earning praise for its unselfish play on the court, members of Team USA were equally admired for their patriotic support of fellow Americans in their quests for Olympic gold.

On July 21, 2009, it was announced that Krzyzewski would return as the head coach of the USA Basketball Senior National Team and in the 2012 London Olympics, he became the first U.S. coach of multiple Olympic teams since the legendary Henry Iba, who won gold in 1964 and 1968 and coached the team that lost the controversial 1972 gold-medal game to the Soviet Union.

Team USA once again claimed gold in 2012 with a 107-100 win over Spain. While some experts speculated that outside shooting could be the downfall of the 2012 squad, Coach K and his staff gave the players the confidence to take their open shots against the international team's zone defenses. The group, led by Kevin Durant and Carmelo Anthony, responded by setting an Olympic record with 129 three-point field goals (16.1 3pg.) and shooting 44.0 percent from three-point range during the tournament. Team USA's finest shooting performance came in a 156-73 win over Nigeria in pool play. Krzyzewski's group set Olympic records for three-pointers (29, including 10 from Anthony), three-point percentage (.630) and points scored (156) in the win.

"He is a legendary coach. I love playing for him and talking to him on off days and before practice. I have been blessed in coming straight out of high school to have a college coach and be able to play for him since '05. It means a lot to me and I have been humbled by it."

— LeBron James

"[Coach K] is successful because he understands his audience and he understands how to adapt. He is a great communicator, he is very passionate about the game and he cares about the guys."

— Kobe Bryant

"Coach K has the same thing that makes all of us players great -- the ability to be confident, but not arrogant. There is not much difference in him than any of us players. In 2006, I was just a year removed from the ACC and I had all the reasons to not like him and now I absolutely love him. He is just such a great guy and a great family man. He is somebody that you can trust and somebody that I'd go to battle with any day."

— Chris Paul

"Coach K just knows the game and he is a great motivator. He holds everybody to a certain standard. Everything is about family and team. I have learned a lot over the past few years while playing for him."

— Kevin Durant

"The amount of respect that he commands and the amount of respect the guys have for him is great. Whether on the college level or the pro level, he is obviously one of the best coaches, so having him here and knowing his knowledge of the game, the way he relates to pro players it makes it easy. It makes it seamless."

— Blake Griffin

"I have so much respect for him as a human being, as a father, as a leader, as a coach, it doesn't get any better than that."

— Jerry Colangelo

2014 USA Basketball Recap

FIBA World Cup (Spain)

- Mike Krzyzewski directed Team USA to a 9-0 record and the gold medal at the 2014 FIBA World Cup and did so in impressive fashion despite guiding a squad absent of USA Basketball mainstays LeBron James, Carmelo Anthony, Kevin Durant and Russell Westbrook.
- With six players averaging double figures, the USA led the 24-team World Cup field in scoring offense (104.6 points a game), scoring margin (+33.0), field goal percentage (.524), rebounding (44.8), rebounding margin (+9.0), defensive rebounds (29.9), assists (20.4), steals (12.1) and turnover margin (+8.3).
- The USA's +33.0 points per game differential was the most of a U.S. men's team in a FIBA World Cup or Olympic Games since the 1994 World Championship (+37.8).
- USA Basketball has now won each of the past two FIBA World Cup (formerly World Championship) events to join Brazil (1959 and 1963) and Yugoslavia (1998 and 2002) as the only countries to earn back-to-back FIBA world titles since the event was initiated in 1950.
- Former Duke standout Kyrie Irving started all nine games of the FIBA World Cup and averaged 12.1 points, 2.6 rebounds, 3.6 assists and 1.9 steals per game en route to being named MVP of the FIBA World Cup. He shot 56.0 percent (45-of-80) from the field, including 60.0 percent (14-of-23) from three-point distance while leading Team USA in minutes played (24.4 mpg.).
- Irving erupted for 26 points on 10-of-13 shooting, including 6-of-6 from three-point range, in a 129-92 win over Serbia in the gold medal game.
- Mason Plumlee, an All-America selection at Duke in 2013, entered the summer as a member of the U.S. Select Team before working his way onto the roster for the national team at the FIBA World Cup. Plumlee went on average 2.3 points and 2.0 rebounds per game over nine contests. He was 9-of-15 (.600) from the field, while playing just under seven minutes per game.

U18 FIBA Americas Championship (Colorado Springs, Co.)

- Freshman Tyus Jones and Justise Winslow helped guide Team USA to a 5-0 record and the gold medal at the 2014 U18 FIBA Americas Championship. Both players have now won three gold medals are members of USA Basketball
- Jones was named team captain and started all five games for Team USA. He averaged 8.2 points, 2.4 rebounds, 6.4 assists and 2.0 steals per game, while leading the tournament in assists, finishing third in assist-to-turnover ratio (2.91:1) and tied for fifth in steals
- Jones led the team in assists four times and guided an offense that scored over 100 points four times and averaged 115.4 points per game for the tournament.
- Jones scored 14 points on 6-of-9 shooting and added seven assists and two steals in a semifinal win over the Dominican Republic and also had a nine-assist game against Argentina.
- Winslow started all five games averaging 12.4 points, 6.0 rebounds, 2.0 assists, 1.1 blocks and 2.0 steals per game at the 2014 FIBA Americas U18 Championship. He scored in double figures four times and shot 53.1 percent (26-of-49) from the field
- In the gold medal win over Canada, Winslow scored 20 points to go along with 10 rebounds and four steals.
- Winslow had 13 points, eight rebounds and two blocks in a win over Argentina as well as 14 points (7-of-10 shooting), seven rebounds, two blocks and four steals against Mexico.
- He opened the tournament with 15 points on 6-of-8 shooting against Uruguay
